Information for applicants

Any person or organisation may nominate a place to the Tasmanian Heritage Council for entry in the Tasmanian Heritage Register by completing this form.

The Historic Cultural Heritage Act 1995 lists eight criteria against which historic heritage significance is determined:

- (a) the place is important to the course or pattern of Tasmania's history;
- (b) the place possesses uncommon or rare aspects of Tasmania's history;
- (c) the place has the potential to yield information that will contribute to an understanding of Tasmania's history;
- (d) the place is important in demonstrating the principal characteristics of a class of place in Tasmania's history;
- (e) the place is important in demonstrating a high degree of creative or technical achievement;
- (f) the place has a strong or special association with a particular community or cultural group for social or spiritual reasons;
- (g) the place has a special association with the life or work of a person, or group of persons, of importance in Tasmania's history;
- (h) the place is important in exhibiting particular aesthetic characteristics.

Only one criterion needs to be satisfied for a place to be entered in the Heritage Register.

The physical condition, authenticity and integrity of places are also taken into account. However, it is possible for a place of poor condition to be entered in the Heritage Register where other values, such as historic or community value, are high.

Definitions

The Tasmanian Heritage Council is the state's decision making body on historic heritage. It is responsible for administering the Historic Cultural Heritage Act 1995, including the Tasmanian Heritage Register.

The Tasmanian Heritage Register is a list of places that have been assessed by the Tasmanian Heritage Council as being of historic heritage significance to our whole state.

A place can be:

- a site, precinct or parcel of land;
- a building or part of a building;
- a shipwreck;
- any item in or on, or historically or physically associated or connected with a site, precinct or parcel of land; and/or
- any equipment, furniture, fitting and articles in or on, or historically or physically associated or connected with, any building or item.

Please complete the form with as much detail as possible.

Significance of the place

The Historic Cultural Heritage Act 1995 lists eight criteria by which a place can be assessed as 'significant' (see notes). Tick those criteria you think are relevant to this place and explain why in the box provided.

- The place is important to the course or pattern of Tasmania's history

- The place possesses uncommon or rare aspects of Tasmania's history

- The place has the potential to yield information that will contribute to an understanding of Tasmania's history

- The place is important in demonstrating the principal characteristics of a class of place in Tasmania's history

- The place is important in demonstrating a high degree of creative or technical achievement

- The place has a strong or special association with a particular community or cultural group for social or spiritual reasons

- The place has a special association with the life or work of a person, or group of persons, of importance in Tasmania's history

- The place is important in exhibiting particular aesthetic characteristics

Description of the place

Describe the place's main features, including contents and surroundings. For example, the approximate size of the building's or structure's site, the boundaries, and number of buildings; the structure, materials used, number of rooms of a building or structure; details of demolitions or additions; the details of the remains of a ruin; or the species of tree and an indication of its health and size. You may also include here details of the physical condition (eg excellent, good, poor) and whether there is the potential for some archaeological study, eg because you think there may be some remains below ground. Attach any further information if needed.

History of the place

This description can include things like dates of construction; names of owners, builders, architects; how and who used the place and any changes to use over time; any events of significance, and any community values associated with the place. Attach information if needed.

Supporting information

- Photos, maps or diagram (please supply as many as possible, including present day and past – copies are acceptable, or we could make copies for you)
- A list of your information sources (eg books, historical society information, surveys, conservation management plans, etc)
- Extra information as you see fit
